RALLY FOR THE CROWERS ORGANIZATION.

Two Meetings Called For Next Monday In This City.

ONE OF THE COMMITTEE

Every Farmer Should Be On Hand to Hear Reports of Progress.

A meeting of the County Executive Committee of the Dark Tobacco District Growers Protective Association, is hereby called to meet at the city court room at 10 o'clock, a. m., Monday, Feb. 27. A general mass meeting of tobacco growers is called to meet at 1 p. m. the same day. Let everybody interested in the contest of the people against the Tobacco Trust be on hand.

W. W. RADFORD,
County Chairman.

The above call is intended to be an urgent invitation to every tobacco grower in Christian county to attend this general meeting of farmers to hear reports and further perfect the county organization. Mr. Radford, the Chairman, has been ill and this is the first time this year that he has been able to meet with the Executive Committee.

There is still about 2,000,000 lbs. of tobacco in Christian county not signed and the trust agents are seeking to demoralize the organization by offering tempting prices. Mr. Peter M. Barker a short while ago refused $9 around for his crop of 80,000 pounds. He is determined to stand with the organized effort to control the price of this crop, as well as succeeding crops. Failure now means failure for all time. Success means millions to the farmers in the years to come.

Col. Ewing is expected and other speakers will be present.

ENTOMBED 160 MINERS BY EXPLOSION.

Alabama Mine Horror One of the Worst in a Decade.

ONE VICTIM RESCUED.

List of Dead Will Reach 160. Harrowing Scenes--Fifty Bodies Removed.

Birmingham, Alabama, Feb. 21.—Of the 160 miners entombed by the explosion in the coal mine at Virginia City, Ala., Monday afternoon, it is feared none will survive. Fifty bodies have been removed, only one of which shows signs of life. These were all from the main shaft, and it is believed that several days' work will yet be necessary before the lower levels can be reached. The scenes around the mine are harrowing. One hundred families are left desolate by the calamity.

One Found Alive.

Out of the fifty bodies recovered up to this time one was found about 4 o'clock who was barely alive. The body was carefully taken from the mine and heroic methods resorted to bring the man to consciousness. He is still alive but scant hope is held out for his recovery. President Flynn, of the Alabama United Mine Workers, said:

I shall be surprised if a single person escapes alive from that mine. Ventilation is very difficult, and if the men were not killed by the explosion they have certainly been suffocated by the gases. The bodies so far reached were in the main slope, and it will be several days before we can get to the rooms which branch off from the main slope.

COLONIAL TEA

Given By Mesdames Meacham and Howell Yesterday.

Washington's Birthday was observed yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Chas. M. Meacham and Mrs. W. R. Howell with a "Colonial Tea" at the home of the former, 935 South Main street. The invitations included members of the local chapter of D. A. R. and other ladies. The house was decorated with potted plants and a profusion of national flags. Pictures of Washington were everywhere in evidence and the hostesses received in colonial style, with powdered hair as worn by ladies of 150 years ago.

Refreshments were served during the reception, which lasted from 3 to 5 o'clock.

AFTER INSECTS

That Destroy Crops Is The Government.

The Abernathy Co. report a highly satisfactory sale on their loose floor this week. Lugs, $3 to $5; low leaf, $4.50 to $5; common leaf, $5 to $6, and medium leaf $6 to $7. Nearly all this tobacco was too high in order. Our buyers are ready to give satisfactory prices for all grades. We cannot recommend too highly this mode of selling to our patrons, especially to those farmers who cannot prize to advantage on account of having small or mixed crops. You certainly realize that it is more satisfactory to sell where you have a dozen buyers than where you have only one, and the expense is very little--10 per 100 and 3 per cent. commission. We sell every Tuesday and Thursday.

Richmond, Ind., has been made the permanent station for experiments relative to the insect pests for the states of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Tennessee and Georgia, and Government agents from the Department of Agriculture will arrive in that place in a few days to begin the work of installing the apparatus for the series of agricultural experiments to be carried on.

This idea will be to determine whether the insects that are destroying seeds, grasses and grains are of common family and whether they exist in the same proportion in various parts of the country. Not only will the identity of the insects be determined, but an effort will be made to determine a remedy that will exterminate the pests that are destroying thousands of acres of crops each year.

It has been decided that Collector James Denton is not to be removed at Danville to make way for J. Sherman Cooper, an Edwards man.

SENATOR PATTERSON ON STATEHOOD BILL.

When the Statehood Bill was under discussion in the United States Senate, Senator Patterson, of Colorado, offered an amendment, the effect of which, if adopted, would have been to permit women of full age in the proposed two new States to vote for members of the constitutional conventions and then the ratification or rejection of the Constitution. In defending his amendment Senator Patterson said:

"Who will say Mr. President, that such a privilege should not be given to the women of these now four Territories. It is the crucial time for the future of these four Territories in connection with the proposed Statehood. The constitutional conventions will have everything with which women are most deeply concerned to consider, the question of divorces, the question of the rights of parents of children, the question of the ownership of property by wives to the proceeds of their own labor, and the question of the schools. Who is more deeply interested in these questions than are the women of these now four territories? Whatever may be said of the bravery, the courage, the self-sacrifice, devotion, and the patriotism of those who left behind them the civilization of the comforts of their eastern homes, as applicable to the men, may be emphasized fivefold as applicable to the women. Mr. President, this is in the line of the progress of civilization."

The amendment was rejected, but History will not have to record of Thomas M. Patterson that he was one of the men who made himself "the laughing stock of posterity" by standing in the way of evolution.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dredged disease that is deemed to be curable in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the system, thus assisting him in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

EVERYTHING READY FOR THE BANQUET.

Feverish Excitement Over the Near Approach of the Date.

COL. WILEY RETURNS.

Invitations Sent to Earl Gray, Gov. Gen. of Canada, and Others.

NO T since Col. Bob Wooldridge organized his company of Home Guards to defend the court house during the Spanish American war, has such excitement prevailed in this city as was seen at the meeting of the Baldheaded Club Saturday night, when Col. Lloyd Whitlow, chairman of the Banquet Committee reported that everything was in readiness for the banquet to be given by President Wooldridge in celebration of his election.

President Wooldridge was in the chair and as soon as the minutes of the preceding meeting had been read and approved, Col. Whitlow arose and stated that the banquet would be given at Hotel Lathan on the night of Feb. 31, and that covers would be laid for 100 members and visitors.

Everything was moving along smoothly, as the streets were still covered with ice, and the invitations sent out had already been accepted by nearly all of the members. He said the banquet would be on a scale so much larger than was at first planned, that he had secured a rate of $3.90 a plate instead of $4. The following, he said, would surely be on hand, and additional acceptances from members out of town were being received every day:

Col. Whitlow said inviters had been sent to a number of distinguished bald-headed men all over the country, including such notables as Earl Gray, Governor General of Canada; Gov. W. L. Douglas, of Massachusetts; Col. W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska; Col. Grover Cleveland, of New Jersey; Col. A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, and others. He hoped to have some of these distinguished visitors present.

One or two changes had been made in the list of speakers, he said. Col. William Lawson Bamberger, who was to speak on "Frenzied Finance" could not be present, having been called to London to investigate an attempt to corner the English walnut market. The other speakers, however, would be ready with the goods.

Col. Dave Wiley, after a long absence, was in his old seat again, having returned from Smith's Grove to attend the banquet. Col. Wiley was called on for a speech, and made a few pleasant remarks. He said he got off the 10 o'clock train and started at once for the club meeting but found the street so slick before he got down in town. He said he was running for tobacco inspector and when he was elected he was going to request Col. Bill Howell to let him give him all the tobacco he could chew.

Col. Howell arose and offered a resolution endorsing Col. Wiley for inspector, but Col. Henry Abernathy and Col. S. G. Buckner jumped to their feet to oppose the resolution and it was withdrawn in the interest of harmony.

On motion of Col. A. W. Pyle, Gov. Beckham was given a vote of thanks for appointing a member of the club, in the person of Col. E. B. Bassett, to ride a horse in the inaugural parade, on March 4th. Col. Buck Leavell cautioned Col. Bassett against trying to cut any cow-boy capers like the Rough Riders who would be in the parade. He said if the Col. tried to pick up a handkerchief from the ground while his horse was running, the chances were that he would fall off.

Col. Bassett did not appear to relish the suggestion.

Among the large number of petitions for membership reported by the Secretary was that of Mr. E. F. Blakeley, of Madisonville, who, it is said, bears a striking resemblance to the late President Lincoln, except that his hair is very thin.

The banquet is the next thing in order.

"Remember the date," said President Wooldridge, as he declared the meeting adjourned, "we will have the time of our lives. Get a furrow, if you are a married man, if you have to put up a diamond ring to get it, and don't fail to come early and stay late. Good night, till we meet at the banquet board, (sometimes spelled bord.)"

K. OF P. TO-NIGHT.

Members of Evergreen Lodge No. 37, Knights of Pythias, are requested to meet at their lodge room to-night at 7 o'clock, this being the night for the regular meeting of the lodge. Visiting brethren in the city are invited to meet with us.

Bamberger is regarded as one of the shrewdest buyers of the South.

WAS HIS LAST VISIT

To Old Home—Mr. Frank Torian Dies Near Dixon.

Mr. Frank Torian, of near Dickson, Tenn., formerly a well-known citizen of this country, died Saturday after an illness of about a month of cancer of the stomach. Mention was made in the Kentuckian since Christmas of Mr. Torian's visit to his old home here, and the news of his death will be learned with surprise, as well as regret. Mr. Torian was a half-brother of Messrs. J. B., A. V. and R. O. Torian, and J. O. Cooper, of this city. He was 71 years old and a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. He was a Confederate soldier and lifelong Democrat. About twenty-five years ago Mr. Torian left Hopkinsville and located near Dickson, where he has resided ever since. Last month Mr. Torian visited his old home here for the first time since his removal from this country. He leaves a wife and several children. Mr. Torian was a successful farmer and influential citizen, who was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him.

CANNING FACTORY ON TAPIS.

R. E. Sturgis, of Chicago, Working up the Company.

FINE OPENING HERE.

Prominent Local Capitalists Are Interested in the Movement.

The long-felt need of a cannery factory in Hopkinsville seems about to be realized. From time to time there has been much talk of an industry of this kind, but it has heretofore ended in talk. Recently Judge W. T. Fowler and Mr. W. R. Brumfield have been taking an interest in the proposed enterprise and have succeeded in enlisting the interest of Mr. R. E. Sturgis, of Chicago, a practical man of large experience in the canning business. He represents the Chicago Building and Manufacturing Company and is in the city this week for the purpose of organizing a company to build and operate a cannery factory here. Mr. Sturgis says Hopkinsville is an ideal location for this line of industries and he is meeting with such encouragement that the factory is almost a certainty.

The purpose is to capitalize at $15,000 and get as much of the stock as possible subscribed by local capitalists. The plant will be built on the single machine system, with a capacity of from 20,000 to 25,000 cans daily. It will employ from 50 to 100 hands, many of them women and children. The factory can be operated six months of the year, canning vegetables and fruits and the rest of the time in canning hominy, light meats, fowls, etc.

The principal vegetables to be canned will be corn, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, beans, peas, pumpkins, squash, asparagus and practically all fruits raised.

The establishment of such an enterprise of this kind here, affording a ready market for such products, will greatly stimulate market gardening, truck farming and fruit raising industries that are bringing vast wealth to other less favored sections. There is a demand for the output of all such factories that always exceeds the supply. A similar factory at Humboldt, Tenn., spent $80,000 last season for raw materials.

Hopkinsville is situated in a fine farming section, with excellent shipping facilities and desirable sites to be had upon most favorable terms.

SENATOR DANIEL

Very Much Interested in the Gaines Tobacco Bill.

Congressman Gaines, of Tennessee, has enlisted the interest of Senator John W. Daniel in behalf of the bill passed by the House last year, regulating tobacco taxation. The following letter has been received by Mr. Gaines:

Hon. John Wesley Gaines, Washington, D. C.

My Dear Sir:—I am much interested in the bill (H. R. 14896) entitled "An Act for the Relief of Tobacco Growers," which passed the House April 18, 1904, and in behalf of which you have appeared before a sub-committee of the Committee on Finance of the Senate. Your evident familiarity with this subject induces me to make the request of you that you will kindly prepare for the Finance Committee an analytical statement, showing first the law of 1890 that regulates tobacco taxation, as well as license; second, the law of 1894, and third, the effect of the proposed measure in its alterations of the pre-existing statute. In this connection, I would be glad if you will have the committee furnished with statements of the revenue collected on leaf tobacco, as well as on other tobacco under the laws of 1890 and 1894. The proviso of Section 59 of the Act of August 25, 1894, (28 Stat., 509) to wit: "That farmers and growers of tobacco who sell leaf tobacco of their own growth and raising, shall not be regarded as manufacturers," etc., has been construed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, as I am advised, to apply only to those farmers and growers of tobacco who sell leaf tobacco of their own growth and raising and deliver the same by their own hand. If this be so, and I believe it is, I would be glad if the committee could be referred to copies of any opinions given, by any law officer of the government to that effect. I cannot myself see that the right of farmers and growers of tobacco, who sell leaf tobacco of their own growth and raising, to be not regarded as manufacturers, is in any sense a personal privilege to them. They have the right as citizens, if it be not taken away from them, by law to sell and handle their tobacco as they please. This right is not the personal privilege of a citizen, but the right of citizenship, inherent in free men; and when a law defines what manufacturers are, and does not comprehend this class of persons as manufacturers, they merely continue in the enjoyment of natural rights; unimpeded and unimpeded by our law. The subject being dealt with is one of great interest to the tobacco growers of my own state, as well as your own, and indeed to tobacco growers in the United States, everywhere. The fact that while the prices of all commodities are up, the price of tobacco is down, the price of tobacco as a farm product has been going down, is one that of itself demonstrates that it is now being grown and sold under conditions which operate powerfully against the tobacco grower's interests. It is my desire to co-operate with you and others who wish to see that interest have a fair show to abolish any statute, whatsoever, that contributes to aid those who seek to monopolize and appropriate to themselves the profits that arise out of tobacco.

Yours very truly,
(Signed.) JOHN W. DANIEL.

DEATH CAME

To Mrs. Sarah J. Dalton Tuesday Morning.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Dalton, mother of the well known Dalton brothers, died at 11:15 o'clock Tuesday morning, after a week's illness, of spasmodic asthma. She was taken critically ill while apparently in good health and suffered greatly until the end came.

Mrs. Dalton was born in Robertson county, Tenn., in June, 1838, and was the widow of the late S. W. Dalton. She lived in Hopkinsville for 23 years and is survived by six children—Messrs. She was Miss Mason before her marriage and two brothers also survive her. The children of one of these lived with her at her home on East Seventh street.

Mrs. Dalton was a devoted Christian, a member of the Baptist church. Her funeral services were held at the Baptist church yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Dr. C. H. Nash, interment in Hopewell.

Washington's Birthday.

The Country Teacher.

A maiden of certain age, To teach a school did engage. She was thinking how much fun 'Twould be to see the children jump and run.

At her command—but ah! alas! Did you ever hear of sass?

That's what was hers on left and right,

And she was provoked enough to fight.

She taught on for a month or more, And then she felt heart-sick and sore;

For when one of her pupils would say

"Mamma, may I stay at home to-day?"

Of course each mamma would say yes, dear,

Whene'er you wish to—do not fear;

I want my child to have an education rare,

So that your mother the praise may share."

Teacher taught for a few months longer,

But her courage grew no stronger;

For one by one the pupils quit,

And left poor teacher alone to sit.

But she has heard somebody say

That she's teaching only for the pay,

And if she goes there, raw or shine,

She'll get her money all the time.

According to Professor Wilcox, of Cornell University, who has figured out the proportion of sexes in the United States for the last census, there are found in continental United States 1,638,321 more males than females, or about two more males than females in every 100 of population. Among the negroes there are a few more females than males, while among the Indians there is also an excess of males.

DA-MARCUS-MECCA LINE TO REVOLUTONIZE HOLY LAND.

Progressive Sultan with an Eye to Utilization of Modern Methods—Abdul Hamid Willy in Influencing the Mohammedans.

Do we look upon the sultan of Turkey as unmoved, a survival of the dark ages? If so, we mistake. Consider for a moment his enterprise in the matter of Mohammedanism.

In the land of the superstitions Mohammedan, in the land where every inch is holy ground, Abdul Hamid has been able to introduce that hated innovation, the railroad; an innovation that will have a most revolutionary effect on this old, old region, for ages seeming unchanged, unchangeable.

SOON TO RETIRE.

The picturesquie camel has had its day, aside the picturesque Bedouin, raider of the holy caravans; for the Damascus-Mecca railroad in the future will carry the pilgrims, and soldiers of the Damascus-Mecca road will act as protectors of the caravan.

In the land of the suspicious Mohammedan evinced vigorous hostility toward the steam carrier; mobs attacked the first railway train arriving at Horut, and stoned the house of the American agent that was introducing strange western machines into Syria. But the Sultan, who is a man of known how to deal with them; as is indicated by the circular distributed among the faithful the faithful who are sharing in the expense of the building of the new line that is to convey zealots to the holy city of Mecca. The circular sets forth: "The Damascus-Mecca railroad is the railroad. It extends from Damascus to Medina, the city of the prophet, and thence to Mecca. It is the road of the most honorable apostle of God, because 3,000 years ago Abraham, the prophet, was preaching to the faithful in Syria with his son Ishmael, and they went from there to the north, and thence to the south, in accordance with the commandment of God, when Sarah asked him to leave his second wife. Thus, when Abraham left Damascus for Medina, he did not pass through Egypt; but took the nearest way, and the nearest way is the same way that the sultan of Turkey is now constructing the present railroad."

Like Abdul Hamid's large standing army that is building the road, no war at present requiring their services. The work is looked upon as military in a sense, as Turkey ever since her trouble with Greece has appreciated the advantages of quick transportation of troops; and a Damascus-Mecca line connecting fortresses and seaports is looked upon as most desirable.

It is estimated that the road will cost $50,000,000. It is to be continued beyond Mecca to Djedda, on the Red sea. A road owned by the Sultan, already connects Damascus with Palestine. It is the sultan's desire to annex this to the proposed line. The sultan has possession of the Jaffa-Jerusalem line, and expects to extend this line to connect with the new one. Other extension is planned in the direction of the Euphrates, and into the great grain region; and here trains of camels will make way for railway trains. Work is now progressing on a railway crossing the Jordan country, reaching from the coast through famous towns of Galilee. A student of the subject says, writing in the Logo, a London paper, only those familiar with the land can even dimly conceive what these vast changes mean to the natives, the Bible scholars and the tourists of the world at large. To the tourist, the sultan is undoubtedly opening the door wide, and he promises increased police protection to the traveling public.

Railway extension is to change the character of this historic land in various ways, an important one an efficient patrol along the line in the desert, where Bedouins have attacked and looted from time immemorial. This will be a more formidable foe than the soldier of caravan days; and one of the many advantages pictured is the important one of driving the Arabs farther inland, into lands more unproductive; they will eventually have to give up the struggle. It is hoped the line will be in operation in 1896, Mecca at the end of the next three years.

THE WINTER BIRDS

WHAT FEATHERED FRIENDS OF THE FARMER DO FOR HIM.

They Hunt Out and Devour Myriads of Insect Enemies of Orchard Trees—Even the Hawk Is Useful.

The intelligent agriculturist no longer allows prejudice and superstition to interfere with his interests; he desires in all cases to act from knowledge and reason, based either on his personal observation or on the experience of some one who is a school or government authority.

The easiest way for the farmer, or for anyone else for that matter, to find out in a general way, which of the birds are beneficial and which are harmful to his farm, is to go to his farm and into the property surrounding it, and watch the birds at their daily work; not just when they happen to be in the cherry tree or the poultry yard, but all through the year. He may not have time to do this during warm weather, but when it is cool he can easily get an idea of the value of wild birds, by carefully watching those which are on his premises at this season. Let him go into his orchard and see for himself what some of the birds are doing for his fruit trees.

Probably one of the first birds that will be a welcome sight to him, and in that case he is sure to see a very useful bird, the 40 odd species and subspecies of woodpeckers in this country, only one is sometimes destructive to the trees. This is the yellow-bellied sapsucker, but as it does not usually winter north of Virginia, it is not likely that the woodpecker will be a welcome sight to him. The sapsucker is to be seen in the birch trees, but as it does not usually winter north of Virginia, it is not likely that the woodpecker will be a welcome sight to him. The birches are a downy or hairy woodpecker. These two are much alike in general appearance, except that the latter is considerably larger than the former. In either case he will be found very busy, busily engaged in the bark of one kind, or another, which have their home on, or below the bark of the tree. Some of these insects are pests of the worst sort, and if they were not gathered up by the birds in the winter the trees would be alive with them in the spring, and in many cases the bark of the tree is all the fruit, but in some cases even the tree themselves. Of course these birds carry on their warfare all the rest of the year, eating ants, caterpillars and crawlers of many kinds by thousands, but the farmer, being busy with other matters, will not be so likely to see them.

Perhaps the next bird to appear may be a nuthatch, a bird much smaller even than the downy woodpecker and quite different in appearance and manners. It may be a white-breasted or a red-breasted nuthatch, but in either case he will be seen to be a very little person, a great deal smaller than the woodpecker, perhaps, but with a greater appearance of bustle.

Or our farmer may see a band of chickadees, of whose identity no one can ever be in doubt, since they repeat their name over and over, wherever they go, as they fly from tree to tree. They are very small birds, and very active. Very tame they are at this season, and with but little patience, they will feed from one's hands or lips, as they did from mine more than a hundred times last winter. They are engaged in the same work as the woodpeckers and the nuthatches, viz., the extermination of many species which if allowed to increase unchecked, would make the work of the fruit grower heart-breaking and unprofitable.

Let the farmer now look over the fields beyond the orchard and observe that clear-cut figure of a hawk, sailing in circles over the fields. He will be sure to leave it if it is feathered in winter, working conscientiously from dawn until dusk, and without pay, to rid his farm of the rats, mice and other rodents which play such havoc with his property at all times of the year. It has been estimated that the hawk will destroy in one year 1,000 rats, 1,000 mice, 1,000 insects, and 1,000 birds, and the farmer need not be told what a thousand mice can do to his fruit trees in the course of one severe winter. He knows, too well, perhaps, that they can kill more than a many trees by girdling them with their teeth, and that they can do more damage in winter than in the same way. Now and then a hawk of some species will get a catch from the poultry yard, but let him not be hasty to revenge the act. What other workman can he get to do so much honest work at so small a wage?

PERPETUAL MOTION

Machine Invented By an Illinois Central Carpenter.

Arthur Futtell, a well-known carpenter of the Illinois Central car department, has invented a perpetual motion machine, which he says has proved a success so far, and he expects to keep cool this summer, if nothing else is realized, says the Paducah News-Democrat. The little machine is made of wood and has thirty-two pieces. It contains a cog wheel which revolves by attached weights and will run until the wood wears out, according to the inventor. Mr. Futtell has been working on the machine for two months, and those who have seen it say it is a wonder. The inventor is making the machine to run a fan at his home this summer.

Allenworth had a job printed at the Kentuckian office some weeks ago, consisting of a time record for railroad men with a card board cover containing advertisements of Hopkinsville business men. He was required to make a cash deposit and proofs of the completed job were given him. With these he proceeded to collect from the business men and after several unsuccessful attempts to secure the books without paying for them, he disappeared. His plan was to circulate the books among railroad employees. Allenworth claimed to be from Guthrie, Ky.

This publication is to call the attention of the approaching grand jury to his methods of doing business.
